

The Hottest Restaurants in San Diego Right Now

More often than not, tipsters, readers, friends and family of Eater have just one question: Where should I eat right now? Restaurant obsessives want to know what's new, what's hot and what to try. And while the Eater 38 is a great resource that covers old standbys and neighborhood essentials across the city, it's not a chronicle of the 'it' places of the moment.

Thus, we offer the Eater Heatmap, which will change continually to highlight the newest openings that are generating serious buzz. Let's see who made the list in the latest Heatmap update.

Know of a brand new restaurant with a good amount of heat that should be added to the list? Send us a tip!

Downtown's newest dining destination is a casual all-day eatery aimed at offering artisan food at affordable prices. The wood-fired Neapolitan-style pizzas start at just $7 and come topped with housemade mozzarella and sausage, while local produce is featured in thoughtfully-prepared sides and salads.
